This Week's Ethos Statement:
I know how to show I am sorry.

Welcome back

We hope you had a lovely half term break with your children and are ready to enjoy the final summer term together. There are always lots of events during this half term so keep up to date with everything through the newsletters and our School App.

Online games

There have been lots of articles in the press in the last week about the dangers of some of the newest online games, particularly Fortnite. I encourage parents to read them as they explain about the dangers to your child's brain development and the impact on behaviour.

Uniform Sale

We are planning to hold a sale of good quality second hand uniform on Friday 29th June. We will have 2 sessions available 8.45-9.15am and 3.15-3.45pm

If you have any spare uniform your child has grown out of please send it in for the sale.

All items will be 50p towards school funds.

Homework / Reading diaries:

Several children are repeatedly not completing homework or not reading with an adult every week. It is vitally important that children get into good routines of completing their homework every week and read regularly.

We have decided to start a playtime detention for those children who haven't completed homework / had their reading diary signed to encourage them to get into a good routine. Please support your child in their homework and check they have completed it on time.
